Description

The digital wireless thermometer and hygrometer Airbi

TRIO measures room temperature in the range of -10 °C to + 50 °C and room humidity in the range of 20-95 %. The package already includes three wireless temperature and humidity sensors, which communicate at a distance of up to 100 m (outdoors). With the Airbi TRIO you can monitor the temperature and humidity in 4 different places. Wireless transmitters are designed for both indoor and outdoor use. The display with the option of short-term backlight offers the user a quick overview of all measured variables without the need of switching between transmission channels. The Airbi TRIO remembers maximum and minimum values for the entire operating time (manual reset) and at the same time for the last 24 hours (automatic reset). The advantage is also other information icons such as indication of temperature or humidity development and indication of humidity comfort by means of a smiley face. The device also has an indication of low batteries both in the base and in the individual transmitters.
